Biggest Ranch Deal.

The biggest ranch deal of the year for this section of the state has just been consummated in the transfer of the Half Way ranch and all livestock thereon by its owner, C. N. Farnsworth, to Messrs. A. D. and R. J. Jones, well known stockmen of the Pecos Valley. The ranch comprises some 64 sections of patented and leased state lands about fifty miles nortwest of Roswell and about 1,000 head of cattle is involved in the sale.

The consideration in the deal has not been made public, but it is understood to be a large figure. Farnsworth states that he is out of the cattle business for the present, at least, though he thinks he may again engage in the industry.
